About Me

I'm Edward Kwame Adom Amissah — a dedicated, analytical young professional with a strong foundation in economics, information technology, and creative media. I bring together hands-on experience in photography, graphic design, and teaching assistance, along with a growing passion for technology and aviation.

Having completed my Cambridge IGCSE, AS, and A-Level certifications, I've built a solid academic base in Economics, IT, Business, and Literature. I enjoy solving problems, understanding complex systems, and applying technology-driven solutions to real-life challenges.

I'm currently pursuing opportunities that allow me to apply my creativity, analytical mindset, and technical skills in a practical, growth-oriented environment.
